A Pioneer in the Crease

Jacques Plante was born in Shawinigan, Quebec, in 1929. He began playing hockey at a young age and quickly developed a reputation as a skilled goaltender. In 1952, he joined the Montreal Canadiens, one of the most storied franchises in NHL history.

Plante quickly established himself as a top goaltender in the league. He was known for his quick reflexes, agility, and ability to control the puck. He also had a unique style of play, which included using his stick to poke check opponents and playing the puck outside of his crease.

In 1959, Plante made history when he became the first goaltender to wear a face mask full-time. At the time, many people thought that wearing a mask was a sign of weakness. But Plante proved them wrong. He went on to win six Stanley Cups with the Canadiens and was inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1978.

A Legacy of Innovation

Jacques Plante's legacy extends far beyond his accomplishments on the ice. He was also a pioneer in the development of goaltending equipment and techniques. He helped to design the first modern goalie mask, which provided goaltenders with better protection from pucks and sticks.

Plante also helped to popularize the butterfly style of goaltending, which involves dropping to the ice to cover more of the net. This style of play is now used by most goaltenders in the NHL.
