When a young woman's body is found in the rushes by the river, Detective Inspector Harry Joplin is called to investigate. The victim, identified as 25-year-old Sarah Jenkins, was a local woman who had been reported missing for several days. As Joplin delves deeper into the case, he uncovers a web of secrets and lies that lead him to question everything he thought he knew.

Sarah Jenkins was not who she seemed. She had been living a double life, working as a prostitute under the alias "Lily". She had also been involved in a secret relationship with a married man, a prominent local businessman named Richard Harding.

As Joplin investigates Sarah's murder, he uncovers a trail of deceit and betrayal that leads him to the heart of the local community. He discovers that Sarah had been blackmailing Harding, and that he had hired a hitman to kill her.

With the help of his team, Joplin tracks down the hitman and arrests him. He also confronts Harding, who confesses to his crime. Joplin arrests Harding and charges him with murder.

Spade Among the Rushes is a gripping crime novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. Margaret Leigh has created a complex and suspenseful story that will appeal to fans of crime fiction and thrillers alike.
